dependency I am new to Ruby and was following the "The best way to learn" book to learn and practice Ruby. I am stuck at a point where I need to resolve a dependency

foo = (10..11).to_a require 'one' require 'two' => nil

One's class is defined as such in one.rb

class One def initialize(arg1, arg2, arg3) @arg1 = arg1 @arg2 = arg2 @arg3 = arg3 end end

Two's class definition is here: two.rb

class Two def initialize(arg1, arg2, arg3) @arg1 = arg1 @arg2 = arg2 @arg3 = arg3 end end

The problem I am facing is that Foo is actually invoking an empty class One. I am not sure why it is happening and I couldn't find any documentation on it. Any help is appreciated.

A: Replace `foo = (10..11).to_a` with `foo = (10..11).to_a.map { |i| One.new(i, i + 1, i + 2) }` and see if that works.
